Allocation of Joint and Several Liability on Consolidated Obligations Among the Federal Home Loan Banks

AGENCY: Federal Housing Finance Board.

The final rule adds new provisions to the Finance Board’s regulations and is intended to protect holders of COs to the greatest extent practicable by providing a framework to ensure the continued timely payment of all principal and interest on COs in the unlikely event of the projected or actual inability of a Bank to meet its debt service payment obligations.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. The Proposed Rule

On February 11, 1999, the Finance Board published for comment a proposed rule to amend its Consolidated Bonds and Debentures Regulation (CO Regulation), 12 CFR part 910, to outline a framework for the orderly allocation of joint and several liability among the Banks on COs issued by the Finance Board pursuant to section 11 of the Act, 12 U.S.C. 1431. 64 FR 6819 (Feb. 11, 1999). The sixty-day public comment period closed on April 12, 1999. The Finance Board received thirteen comment letters: twelve from Banks and one from a member institution. The commenters, noting the stability and financial strength of the Bank System, generally supported the goal of the proposed rule, but expressed nearly uniform objection to the certification and reporting requirements and requested other changes.

The Act provides plenary authority to the Finance Board in connection with the issuance of COs, for which the Banks are jointly and severally liable. Section 11 of the Act authorizes the Finance Board to issue rules and regulations governing the issuance of COs. See 12 U.S.C. 1431(a). Pursuant to the authority set forth in section 11(b) and (c) of the Act, the Finance Board may issue consolidated Bank debentures or bonds which “shall be the joint and several obligations of all the Federal Home Loan Banks, and shall be secured and be issued upon such terms and conditions as the [Finance] Board may prescribe.” See id. at 1431(b) and (c). Moreover, section 11(d) of the Act provides that the Finance Board shall have full power to require the Banks to “deposit additional collateral or to make substitutions of collateral or to adjust equities between the Federal Home Loan Banks.” Id. at 1431(d). The Act makes clear that COs are not the obligations of and are not guaranteed by the United States. See id. at 1435. The Banks collectively are the sole obligors on COs. Finance Board regulations governing the issuance of COs are set forth in 12 CFR parts 910 and 941.
